Tosca Micro Cap UCITS Fund

UK Micro Cap

October 2022

Performance Returns

The Tosca Micro Cap UCITS Fund returned -1.38% in October (GBP Institutional share class).

Investment Objective & Strategy

The Tosca Micro Cap UCITS Fund is a fundamental, value-orientated strategy, applied to the opportunity rich UK micro cap segment. The fund will invest primarily in “micro cap” companies with a market capitalisation of up to £250m that are listed in the UK, and which are or are expected to become constituents of the FTSE Small Cap or the FTSE AIM All Share Index. The Fund is managed by Matt Siebert who, together with Daniel Cane and Jamie Taylor, support Martin Hughes in the management of the Toscafund mid-cap strategy. As such, the Fund represents an extension of the same investment philosophy employed in the award winning Tosca Opportunity and Tosca Mid Cap funds. The Fund targets an annualised return in excess of 15% (net of fees).

Manager Commentary

Volatility continues in equity markets but there are signs of light at the end of the tunnel.

There remain many questions surrounding the broad geopolitical situation, UK GDP, personal and corporate taxation, peak inflation expectations and rising rates. There are no quick fixes here but at least the latest iteration of the UK Government appears to have a few more grownups in it, which has allowed time for reflection and a level of stabilisation in the market.

The 6 month forward curve for UK base rates is now 20% lower than it was a month ago (4.6% vs 6.3%), Sterling has stopped falling and other key cost pressures such as North Sea gas prices are materially down MoM. Against this backdrop, we would expect to see some price recovery in parts of the micro-cap space.

In the month our worst performing stock was Kistos (-0.99%). This was a result of the collapse in the forward price of Dutch natural gas. Despite its strong performance YTD we have continued to hold the stock because we firmly believe that management will look to return capital to investors given the extraordinary FCF that its North Sea assets have been generating this year, and will continue to generate in future years. The threat of windfall taxes and less elevated gas prices will curtail this in part BUT we estimate that the company is already in a position to return c.30%+ of its market cap in cash while retaining a healthy buffer to fund expansion and or tax liabilities.

A further drag on the Fund was Kape (-0.51%). The stock has just digested a large primary raise to accelerate M&A plans that has led to near term earnings dilution. The fact that it is a consumer facing tech name hasn't helped either. However, fundamentals are still very much in its favour. A fast growing consumer cyber security market, with major economies of scale as they upsell to a base of 7m paying customers, is helping to drive strong profitability and FCF. The stock currently trades on a double digit FCF yield. If it were to trade to a 6% yield then the stock will more than double. Further earnings enhancing M&A, a new debt facility, and ongoing execution of the business model, should lead to a re-rating in the medium term.

On a more positive note, a long standing position in SRT Marine (+0.65%) has started to contribute well to returns. Strong H1 results demonstrated strength in both the systems business and the core transceiver operations. Management also pointed to ongoing demand for its products and services across the Far East (fisheries) and Middle East (anti-piracy). If contracts are realised as we would expect, this £70m market cap company could be generating £15-20m of profit in FY23. We look forward to the time when the focus of attention falls onto individual managements and their companies and less on macro factors. It is in this environment that we are confident that we can generate meaningful alpha.

We thank you for your continued support.
