Performance Returns

The Purple Global Adaptive Equity UCITS Fund returned +0.85% for the month of April (A Share class) giving a net return since launch on 18 Feb. 2016 of +14.9%, and a year to date return of +4.03%.

Investment Objective & Strategy

The Montlake Purple Global Adaptive Equity fund is our flagship fund which adapts seamlessly to market conditions by knowing when to take risks and when to preserve capital. It is an extremely useful product for clients who are willing or need to take equity risk but would benefit from the portfolios proactive systematic risk management capability which looks to preserve capital when market conditions deteriorate.

The fund is a global equity fund with a risk management overlay. It holds a basket of equities from the US, European, UK and Japanese markets. These equities are selected based on fundamental data and are chosen on a quality bias.

Each geographical area is treated as a separate portfolio for risk management purposes, with positions being equal weighted to avoid one position dominating performance. It is in our specialised risk system ARES™, however, where this product differentiates itself and adds significant value. This risk system directs the overall level of market exposure that the fund takes in each geographical region, with the ability to be completely hedged across all markets when required. It is this system of allowing the fund to take on market risk in rallies, and hedging during downturns that gives the fund its edge.

We expect the fund to outperform over the longer term, particularly over a full market cycle.

Monthly Commentary

Equity markets continued their upward trajectory in April, extending the strong start to the year. Markets have recovered to their 2018 highs, and US equity markets have hit all time highs.

The fund returned +0.85% over the month. The fund has equity hedges in place for all four markets that we invest in. While we have been slowly covering some of our hedge positions over the month, we still retain approximately only a 0.4 beta to the market. Therefore, we did not fully participate in the market rally. Stock selection has been strong over the US, UK and Europe, although it has been weak in Japan, where our higher exposure to the Consumer Staples sector has hampered performance. Our stock selection is designed to outperform over the longer term so we expect this underperformance to recover after Japan has returned from its Golden Week holiday.
