

FACTSHEET

Performance Returns

The North MaxQ Macro UCITS Fund (USD Inst. Class) return for the November 2016 period (26th October 2016 to 30th November 2016) was -4.55% bringing the year-to-date return to -15.50%.

Fund Overview

The North MaxQ Macro UCITS Fund is a global macro fund that seeks to generate absolute positive returns over a market cycle that is uncorrelated to other global macro managers, the broad fund universe as well as interest rate, foreign exchange and equity indices. The investment manager identifies micro-economic and country specific imbalances to develop views and corresponding trading strategies. These strategies provide a diverse source of alpha and are expressed through thematic, relative value, counter-trend and quantitative exposures. The exposures are constructed to offer the best asymmetric payoff, while minimising expected correlations and providing protection against downside gap-risk. The investment manager prefers to take risk across a number of different strategies. Risk is monitored in real-time at the strategy and portfolio level and individual strategy stop-loss limits are established at the inception of each trade.

Monthly Market Commentary

November saw yet another failure of pollsters, with the unexpected election of Donald Trump as the next US President. The positive reaction of the equity market also came as a surprise, considering the poor equity performance in the campaign period whenever Trump's polls would improve and the negligible support that the Trump candidacy received from both Corporate America as well as Wall Street. In contrast to the equity market, the bond market and emerging markets sold off, in response to what is perceived as Trump's reflationary policy agenda and trade protectionism. We are sceptical on Trump's ability to increase the US's potential growth rate and see stagflation as a much more likely scenario for the US. November economic data continued to improve across all major economies suggesting a strong finish for global growth. Fund performance in November was disappointing with losses on our short GBP FX exposure, tactical long the JPY (post the Trump win) and our shorts on UK and US equities. Looking forward market focus will be on the upcoming Fed meeting and the aftermath of the Italian referendum. We are looking for a hawkish hike, and are expecting the Fed to suggest an increase in the pace of hikes from one a year to two or even three. In Europe we expect the instability in Italy to lead to the Euro and European risky assets underperforming in the medium term.
